

TitanTPP

Observed-event encoding with a bottleneck history correction

The next-event target is withheld from the encoder and enters the loss only.

Persistent and static memory remain; inference does not update their parameters.